

COLUMBIA COUNTY
BOUNTY

Over the past year farmers and restaurants in Columbia County have been working together through a Farm-to-Chef Initiative. Several meetings have been co-hosted by Cornell Cooperative Extension, Columbia Hudson Partnership and Columbia County Chamber of Commerce that have netted amazing results. We officially launched Columbia County Bounty in March 2007.

We invite you to support the newly established Columbia County Bounty program by pledging to support the program or by becoming a Charter Member of the program. The mission of Columbia County Bounty is to promote and support networking connections between local agricultural producers and culinary businesses. We aim to educate our community about the preservation of our local farms through the purchase and use of local and regional sustainable foods and products not only from Columbia County, but also the entire Hudson Valley.

I would like to be a Charter Member of Columbia County Bounty ($25)
(Columbia County Bounty Members will receive special benefits throughout the year)

I would like to support Columbia County Bounty with a donation of $_____.
